"His heart was moved with pity for them, for they were like sheep without a shepherd."

My neighbor woke up every day at 3 am. He did an hour of exercise and a holy hour in front of the Blessed Sacrament every day, first thing in the morning. He was a very generous neighbor – when I was a seminarian,

I'd go over for dinner, sometimes he'd invite us to watch a movie, and on numerous occasions, he'd treat us to breakfast at the local diner. His name is Archbishop Anthony.

In the same way that Jesus sees the crowds "like sheep without a shepherd" in the Gospel, he also sees us. Many times we go through life without being aware of the shepherd – Jesus Christ. The Good Shepherd is present through many "shepherds" he sends in our lives: parents, priests, catechists, teachers, mentors and coaches.

My neighbor – Archbishop Anthony – was a shepherd who greatly contributed to my vocation as a priest today. I don't remember many of the things he said, in fact, I probably remember just one line from one homily, which was at the funeral of my father. However, what most impressed me was not what he said, but all the things he did to show that he was looking out for the sheep, looking out for me, my family and eventually the seminary community I lived in for seven years in Guam. The same can be said about my parents: I don't remember many of the things they said, but their actions made a deep impression on me and significantly influenced my vocation.

Who are the shepherds in your life?

We are all called to be shepherds. The mission of the shepherd is one: to bring the sheep to meet the Good Shepherd – Jesus Christ. Do we bring the sheep – our family, friends, fellow parishioners, neighbors and coworkers – closer to Christ or further?

I am learning how to be a shepherd. I'm a very poor one. Many times, I put my needs or comforts above those of the flock. What helps me come out of my selfishness is to recall all the shepherds God sent in my life. The gospel reminds us that we have shepherds, that we are not alone, that Jesus Christ sees our sufferings, that Christ is risen and guides us to the pastures of eternal life.

"...y se compadeció de ellos, porque andaban como ovejas sin pastor..."

Mi vecino se levantaba cada día a las 3 de la madrugada. Realizaba una hora de ejercicio y una hora de oración frente al Santísimo todos los días, al inicio del día. Era un vecino sumamente generoso: durante mi tiempo como seminarista, solía invitarnos a cenar, ocasionalmente nos llevaba al cine y, en múltiples ocasiones, nos agasajaba con un desayuno en el restaurante del barrio. Su nombre es Arzobispo Antonio.

Al igual que Jesús ve a las multitudes "como ovejas sin pastor" en el Evangelio, también nos ve de esa manera. A menudo transitamos por la vida sin ser conscientes del pastor: Jesucristo. El Buen Pastor se manifiesta a través de varios "pastores" que envía a nuestras vidas: padres, sacerdotes, catequistas, maestros, mentores y entrenadores.

Mi vecino, el arzobispo Anthony, era un guía que dejó una huella imborrable en mi camino hacia el sacerdocio. Sus palabras se desvanecen en mi memoria, pero su ejemplo perdura. Su cuidado por su rebaño, por mí y por mi familia, resonó en la comunidad del seminario en Guam, donde residí siete años. Lo mismo ocurrió con mis padres: sus acciones, más que sus palabras, moldearon mi vocación de manera profunda.

¿Quiénes representan los pastores en tu jornada?

Todos estamos destinados a ser guías. La tarea del guía es una: conducir a las ovejas al encuentro del Buen Guía - Jesucristo. ¿Estamos acercando a las ovejas (nuestras familias, amigos, compañeros feligreses, vecinos y compañeros de trabajo) a Cristo?

Estoy en proceso de convertirme en pastor. Mi situación económica es limitada. En ocasiones, priorizo mis propias necesidades y comodidades por encima de las del rebaño. Lo que me impulsa a superar mi egoísmo es tener presentes a todos los pastores que Dios ha puesto en mi camino. El evangelio nos enseña que contamos con guías, que nunca estamos solos, que Jesucristo es testigo de nuestras luchas, que Cristo ha resucitado y nos conduce hacia los pastos de la vida eterna.
