Safe Environment Corner

Are you thinking of ways that you can volunteer in your parish or school community now or in the future?

If the answer is YES.....You are needed!

If you would like to become a catechist, volunteer in your church or school, or assist with the Scouts, you can begin by contacting your Local Safe Environment Coordinator- just call the parish or school office for their contact information.

The next step would be to create a Virtus account and sign up for a Protecting God's Children training- the training is good for five years! Again, find out how at your parish or school.

Anyone with knowledge of an act of sexual misconduct is asked to inform us so that we may take appropriate action to protect others and to provide support to victims of sexual abuse. Call the Coordinator for the Office of Accompaniment in the Archdiocesan Department for the Protection of the Faithful at 201-407-3256.

Dear Brothers and Sisters

She is one of the greatest, most beautiful, widely appreciated women the world has ever known. Not Marilyn Monroe, Sofia Loren, Beyonce, or Jay Lo; but Teresa Sanchez de Cepeda y Ahumada, otherwise known to us as Teresa St. of Jesus, or St. Teresa of Avila.

Her father, Alonso, was widowed with three children, and then had nine more children with his second wife Beatrice –Teresa's mother. Of this large family St. Teresa says, "All, through the goodness of God, were like our parents in being virtuous, except myself".

Born in Avila in 1515, at an early age she enjoyed reading the lives of the saints, together with her little brother Rodrigo. They were impressed by the thought of eternity, and they used to repeat together "Forever, forever, forever". The martyrs seemed to have bought Heaven cheaply by their torments, so they decided to go to the country of the Moors, in the hope of being martyred for their faith. Thus, at age seven, Teresa ran away from home with her younger brother Rodrigo, planning to beg their way to North Africa. But they were found by their uncle and brought back home, whereupon Rodrigo laid all the blame on his sister.

Teresa's mother died when she was fourteen, and she recounts "as soon as I began to understand how great a loss I had sustained I was very much afflicted; and so I went before an image of our Blessed Lady and besought her with tears that she would be my mother".

After her mother's death Teresa spent hours reading romances, and tried to write them herself. These tales, she says, were the cause of her falling insensibly into other defects. She began to imitate fashions, to take great delight in being well dressed, and use perfume and "to affect all the vain trimmings which my position in the world allowed".

Her father noticed the change and sent his daughter, who was then fifteen, to a convent of Augustinian nuns. After a year Teresa fell sick, and had to return home, but she then began to think more seriously about the religious life, the thought of which both attracted and repulsed her! Her mind was made up when she read the Letters of St. Jerome, and she told her father she wished to become a nun, but he would not consent. Fearing that she might relapse, she escaped secretly to the convent of the Incarnation of the Carmelite nuns outside Avila.

She felt a severe interior conflict: "I remember...that whilst I was going out of my father's house, I believe the sharpness of sense will not be greater in the very instance or agony of my death than it was then... There was no such love of God in me at that time that was able to quench that love which I bore to my father and my friends". She was twenty years old.

Teresa lived in the convent, which was more like a social club, for twenty five years, before being inspired to found a small community bound to a more simple way of life. Against great opposition from the other nuns, she undertook to establish a reformed convent, beginning with the convent of St. Joseph, the first of seventeen foundations made in her lifetime. Her nuns lived in poverty, without any settled revenues, wearing habits of coarse serge and sandals instead of shoes (hence the name 'no shoes' or 'Discalced'). Together with a young priest, St. John of the Cross, she also undertook the reform of the male Carmelite Order.

Her Feast is this Tuesday, October 15th, why not come to Mass and celebrate the life of one of the greatest, most widely appreciated women the world has ever known, Saint Teresa of Avila, Virgin and Doctor of the Church.
