Dear Brothers and Sisters

The youth pilgrimage was an occasion for the 110 young people I travelled with to pray about and discern their vocation in life. What is my vocation? What does God call me to be? A priest, a married man, a wife and mother, a religious in a convent? How does one discern a vocation?

These things are hardly ever considered in everyday life, let alone talked about among peers.

And if such things are considered, they are usually, unfortunately, shrouded in religiosity and mystique. This is quite a turn off for those who are not seeking a divorce between religion and life.

After all, why shouldn't Christ speak to, and call, a sixteen or eighteen or twenty year old young man or woman.

Such things cannot be spoken of in school or college, to do so would be to risk being relegated to the category of religious freak.

The pilgrimage is refreshing, we travelled together, the unbaptized together with theologically enlightened; those from a life on the street, together with the well-heeled.

All of us have a vocation in life, and this pilgrimage, as part of the Jubilee of Hope for the Youth, was an opportunity for the one million young people who attended the Prayer Vigil and the Eucharist at Tor Vegata in Rome with Pope Leo to discover their calling in life.

The 110 youth I travelled with also participated in a Eucharist at the Marian shrine in Altötting, on the border of Austria and Germany. Present were the 11,000 youth from the USA who had travelled to Rome for the Jubilee with the Holy Father. There was a vocational call there, and 5,000 boys and 5,000 girls stood up for the priesthood and religious life. Amongst them were 5 boys and 7 girls on from our pilgrimage. We pray for them, that God may defend their calling and bring it to fruition.

Fr. Sean
